USTC International College

Do something today that your future self will thank you for. Happiness comes from living as your inner voice tells you to. Happiness comes from being who you actually are instead of who you think you are supposed to be. You are braver than you believe, stronger than you seem, and smarter than you think. After four years of hard work, you want to commemorate this special moment with the right words. Something that defines who you are and sets the tone for the future. In these unforgettable moments, I would like to congratulate myself and all my colleagues for obtaining a Ph.D. degree and I wish all of us a life full of success, achievement, progress, and prosperity.

——Basheer Mansoor

USTC International College

Graduation is just the beginning of a new journey in our lives with hope and things we want to accomplish, but I will always cherish the time spent in China with all my friends and people I met. There were hard times and good times, and I believe the best is yet to come. Wish all of us a bright future.

——KOUMBA NOELLE LENA

USTC International College

One step is all it takes to go a thousand miles. It was my immense luck and fortune to be part of the University of Science and Technology of China, where I have grown immensely both academically and socially. The entire faculty and department leaves no stone unturned to shape one's future. The four years spent at the USTC have been a really wonderful experience of learning with a prolific exposure to the outside world. I would like to express my utmost respect, love, and pride to the entire staff of the School of Information Science and Technology and the Department of Electronic Engineering and Information Science. I came across various people of different nationalities and cultures. I have received lots of opportunities to groom myself, thanks to my ever-inspiring supervisor, Professor Zhongfu Ye, who helped me to discover my talents and skills. It's their efforts that make me count myself amongst the top-notch doctoral graduates in my profession. As a result of their amazing support, I was awarded a Chinese government scholarship for the PhD program. There were hurdles from the start of my academic journey, but I was able to overcome them. The USTC's extensive learning facilities allow students to add value to themselves. I am grateful to the international office of USTC staff members who were always available to address our many problems. Thank you also to the librarians. 'Education is our passport to the future, for tomorrow belongs to the people who prepare for it today."

——Rashid Khan

Today is a milestone. It tells you how far you've come. Keep learning, keep trying, keep accomplishing, and keep venturing on through your journey.

—— Hameed Akbar

Hard-working and persistence alter huge failures into extraordinary achievements! —— Sadia Akhtar

Who you spend time with is who you become! Change your life by consciously choosing to surround yourself with people with higher standards. Be focused and keep working hard to achieve your goal, finally you will get the desired results. Consistency is the key! Self-belief and hard work will always earn you success.

——Bushra Qureshi

Graduation is an exciting time. It marks both an ending and a beginning; it's warm memories of the past and big dreams for the future. At first, I would like to express my deep gratitude to my Parents who have always blessed and supported me! Next, I wish to express fervent sense of thankfulness to my affectionate Supervisor Prof. Ye-Zi You for his wholehearted interest and dedicated supervision. In the same spirit, I express my thanks to USTC for providing an enjoyable learning environment. It is my great pleasure to thank all of the esteemed faculty members at "International College of USTC" who have contributed in one way or another to the success of my studies at USTC!

——JAMSHID KADIRKHANOV

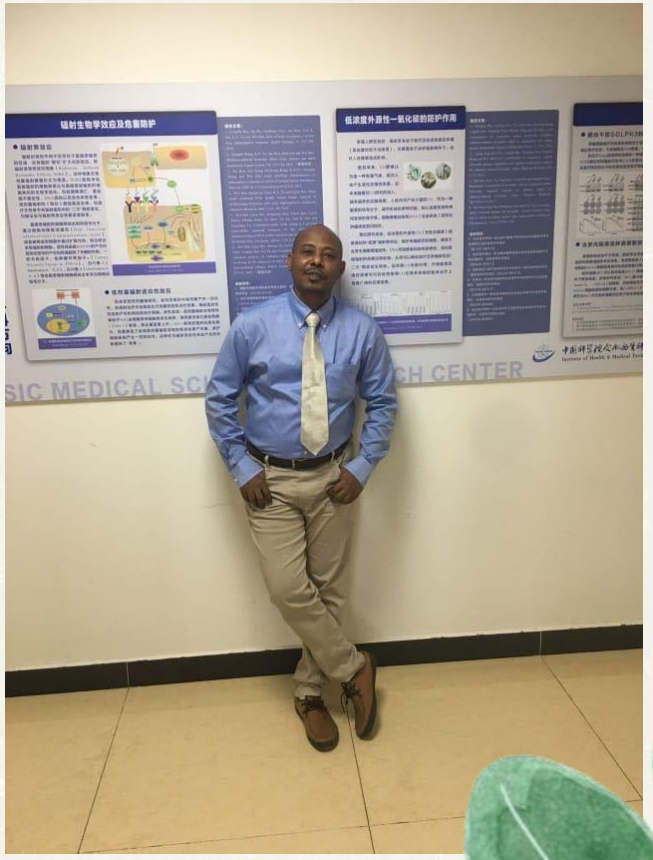

Great is thy faithfulness!
Great is thy faithfulness!
Morning by morning new mercies I see;
all I have needed thy hand hath provided;
great is thy faithfulness, Lord, unto me!

——Tunde Simeon Amosun

USTC International College

I've found that studying at USTC has been an amazing journey. Because after years of hard work, stress, and exhausting self-discovery, you have to go through life with more than just a passion for change. For that, you need a plan, and you have to be the hero of your life. I've learned that you can't do it by yourself and you should work with people who have your back. So, I'd like to thank my Chinese friends and all international students, especially those from Sudan. Some people feel like graduation is the end, but for me it is only the start for write the story that I was meant to tell. When I got my PhD from USTC, I realized that the research arts approach I used to learn how to think scientifically was just a shorthand for a much deeper and more serious idea.

——Waleed Abdelbagi Ahmed Almahi

USTC International College

When you see that the light filtering through the clouds is also in you, you'll know: you can't lose what's inside. You can't lose who you are. So, let your light shine. Be the sun in someone else's storm. It's part of why you're here. There's light buried in your soul: the same light that gives life to everything around you. When you see yourself in everything, in the light rising through the curtains and the stars studded in the sky, the world is a brighter place. Things are a little less··· dark. You remember how strong and resilient you are. Because: you're life, you're here, and you've got stardust in you. So, when life feels too hard and the world feels hopeless, take heart. The best gift you can give everyone around you is your own courage to shine, to help, to rise, to be true to who you want to be, to love: even still. Take heart, because what's inside is the most powerful force in the universe. Call it light, call it potential, call it whatever feels right to you.

November 2020, the day when ISO USTC gave the chance to international community to present their cultural norms and cuisines. On the behalf of international community, I'd like to say thanks to ISO and USTC. Second, as I'm from Pakistan, so it will be an honor to present ourselves with the traditional dressing and positive vibe. In this occasion I want to mention a quote from the founder of Pakistan Muhammad Ali Jinnah.

"My message to you all is of hope, courage and confidence. Let us mobilize all our resources in a systematic and organized way and tackle the grave issues that confront us with the grim determination and discipline worthy of a great nation."

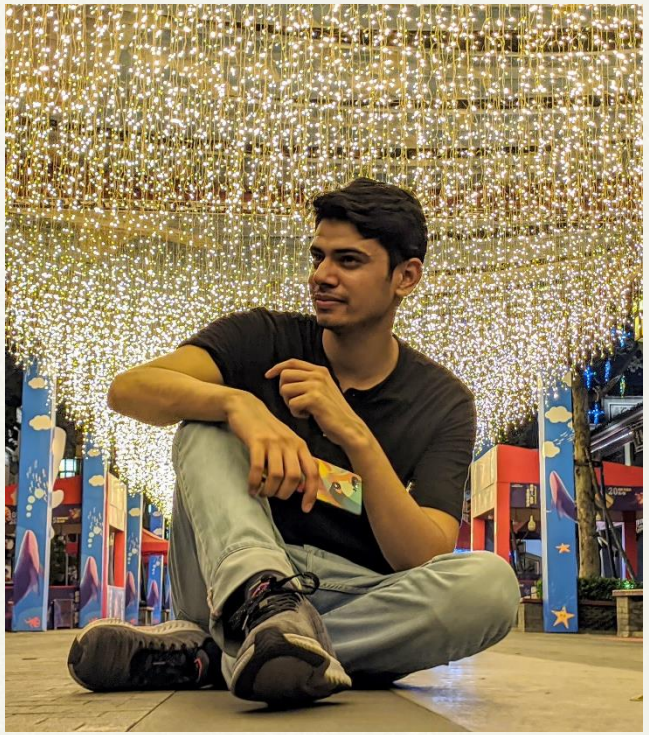

USTC International College

Thank you first of all for accepting me and loving me for exactly who I am. This isn't easy. I can be stubborn, difficult and confusing, but you love and accept me for me. There are days I wonder when you'll finally come to your senses and move on and find a new Best Friend Forever, one who isn't so complicated, but to my amazement, you never do. You tell me you'll take the good with the bad, and when I question whether I have any good left, you're always there to reassure me and show me that I do. Thank you for loving me in my dorky and difficult moments, moments where if the rest of the world saw them, they'd probably walk away. Thank you for understanding me like no one else does; if we didn't have the connection we did, I can't imagine how lonely and big this world would feel. Because of you, this world seems like a little friendlier place, one I can see myself being a part of.

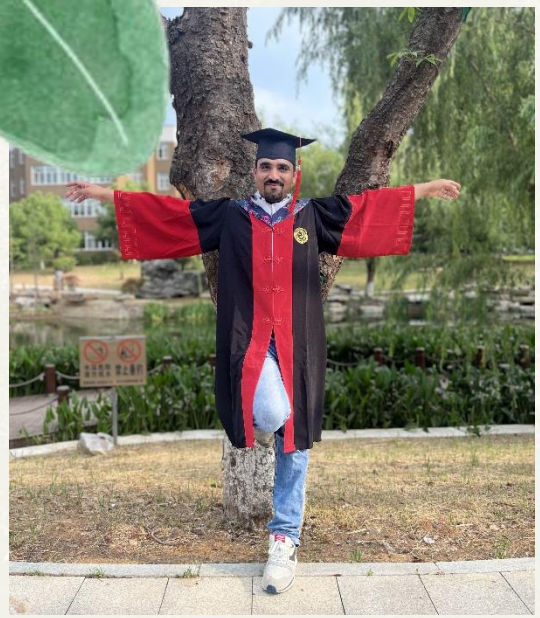

Before I start, I would like to thank especially to USTC for giving me the chance to be the part of this journey and thank all the teachers, staff, administration, and the friends for being with me all the time throughout my degree. And thanks to ISO for adding my picture contributions in the graduation memory book of 2022.

For Me: I've found that this journey has been incredibly freeing. Because no matter what happened, I had the peace of mind knowing that all of the chatter, the name-calling, the doubting...all of it was just noise. It did not define me, it didn't change who I was, and most importantly, it couldn't hold me back. What I have discovered is this: You can't do it alone ⋯ Listen. Say 'yes.' Live in the moment. Make sure you play with people who have your back. Make big choices early and often.

——MUHAMMAD HAMZA

"PhD is not like other types of graduation. It requires extreme self-motivation, focus, enthusiasm towards the research work and peacefulness. To be successful in a PhD life, you have to use each day as an opportunity to improve, to be better, to get a little bit closer to your goals."

I would like to pay my sincere gratitude to USTC for providing me the best scientific environment to improve my research skills. I am honored to have my family and friends at my back, who is the main reason behind the accomplishment of this goal.

——Muhammad Hidayatullah Khan

It was the most wonderful experience of my life at USTC. I still remember stepping out of Hefei Xinqiao International Airport with my heart and mind full of confusion. With time, my anxiety dissolved due to the warmth and kindness that I received from the Chinese community around me. Today, I realize that joining USTC was one of the best decisions I made. It is true that I have learnt many new things during my stay at USTC and I believe that it has provided me an opportunity to develop my career as a scientist. I would like to say thanks to my teachers, my lab fellows, the administration, and the international college for their unconditional support and guidance. —— Muhammad Arif

I and my University/ A dream comes true/ Farewell Time/ You can do it

For years, I admired a degree in MBA from a world-class university, and it finally came true. I will never forget how innovative, cherished, exciting, and encouraging the class of 2019 International MBA was. While I was about to leave the beautiful campus, I realized I had gained many valuable things, which included knowledge, skills, professionalism, hospitality, and friendships from the USTC teachers and fellows. Those values put a huge responsibility on me to serve society and overcome challenges. —— Ismail Sorosh

Three years of youth and a thousand miles journey. I made it! However, it comes with a heavy price; I lost my beloved mom due to Covid-19 while pursuing my master's degree program. Thus, I sincerely dedicate this achievement to my beloved mom. May her soul rest in peace. —— Noor ul Amin

My first ever Christmas in China and USTC. It was tough to celebrate it without my family, but good thing I had my friends who made this Christmas like no other. A good reminder for us that embracing change can lead us to create new and unique memories.

I got my first ever medal and certificate in Hefei through this Fun Run Activity. This was one of the activities that I did not regret going. It was fun and memorable. Thanks to my MBA friends.

Making use of my Art skills during our MBA's New Year party. Thanks for the food and show prepared by the MBA department.

I would like to give myself a pat on the back for completing this chapter of my life. The pandemic has surely not hindered my goal to complete my MBA degree at USTC. It's a shame I was not able to wear my academic gown, but I remain grateful to Almighty God for this chance to be one of USTC's alumni. I would also like to thank my family for all the undying support. Because of them, I am standing here with great honor to represent The Philippines in this prestigious university. It takes a lot of courage to come out of that box, but when I did, it was all worth it.

——Crismin Joy C. Lagamayo

I am so proud to get my PhD from USTC; the world's top-ranked university, a prestigious, reputable, and competitive university. USTC is a comfortable environment with high-standard research facilities for great achievements and a bright future. USTC and international college usually organize and encourage international students to participate in several kinds of activities to feel warm and reduce any academic stress. I' ll recommend and support the new generation' s students for studying at USTC.

We have to:

- Work smart and hard with the best of our ability for great achievements.
- Keep learning to know and be able. Knowledge and ability are the power of this century.

Journey from a small-town boy to a top-class university was not easy. This journey couldn't have been possible without my parent's blessing and loving care from my beloved wife. In the same line I would like to express my overwhelming respect and sincere gratitude to my respected supervisor without his help and careful supervision my doctoral study wouldn't have been possible. USTC gave me the best class of friends in my study carrier across the countries. The beautiful moments that I spent with my friends will be always in my memory book. May our graduation be the beginning of many more wonderful achievements in our life.

After completing the Chinese Language program Anhui Normal University in Wuhu, I enrolled at the University of Science and Technology of China in Hefei to pursue a Master's degree in Biomedical Engineering. My study focuses on the use of polymeric micro needles for the transdermal administration of light-responsive 2D nanomaterial's loaded with chemotherapeutic agents for the treatment of superficial cancers. In addition to my laboratory experience, I have published two first-authored and two co-authored publications in recognized, high-impact Scientific.

My time here in China is not a one-sided story, and there has been a lot of good and bad days. Talk of the heap of manuscripts I had to dig through in search of a research gap and fun nights with friends. I came to realize how important the knowledge of the local language is for a foreigner in a place far away from home. While here, I joined the USTC International Students' Football team, My Department's Football team and Foreigners in Hefei local league Football team (Little Susie's), where I met a handful of wonderful people.

I thank God for the spirit of forbearance, tolerance, and mental acuity, which enabled me to overcome the challenges encountered during this journey; and to the entire ISO staff, I say Thank you for all you do for us. Long live the People's Republic of China and USTC.

—— FADAHUNSI ADEOLA ABRAHAM

USTC International College

Ever been on a rollercoaster? This chapter felt precisely like that. Highs and lows, exciting yet terrifying, but overall, something I'll cherish for the rest of my life. To start on campus and to graduate online, all felt very surreal. It's not about your GPA or the papers you write; it's all about the memories you leave behind. My friends, teachers, and colleagues just made one heck of a chapter in my life, and I'll be forever glad to be a part of USTC to experience it all. To those who tell me to quit dreaming and confront reality, I say keep dreaming and make it a reality. Go confidently in the direction of your dreams. Live the life you have imagined. Cheers!

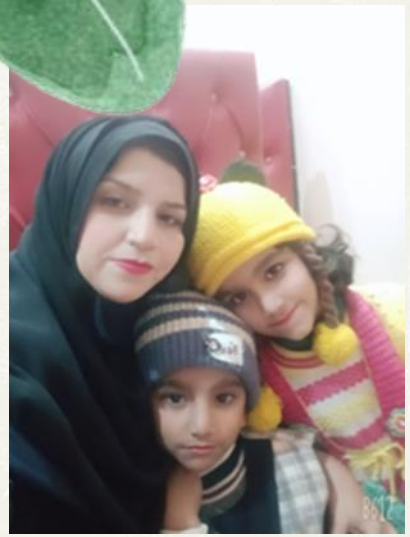

——LAILA KHALID

I spent eight years at USTC, where I earned my Master's and Ph.D. degrees. In those eight years, USTC has given me countless memories. There were many ups and downs, but I learned and kept moving forward with hope and optimism, which I believe is the best way to achieve your goals. I would say that you should be a student for as long as you have something to learn, and this will mean all your life. In the end, I will miss USTC.

——Muhammad Umar Farooq Qaisar

USTC International College

It was a dream to come to USTC, which comes true with the prayers of my parents. Thanks professor Li Jing for your help, support and concern. I learned many new things during my study period in USTC, and I believe that it will give me guidance in the dark paths in my future educational life. I am very happy to going to graduate but at the same time extremely sad because I am missing graduation ceremony. It was my dream to wear the grown and shoot photos in every corner of USTC. USTC, Hefei and Chinese people are forever in my heart and long distance would never change that. I love USTC, I love Hefei. I love China.

—— KHADIJA KANWAL

The only thing that's capital-T True is that you get to decide how you're gonna try to see it. This, I submit, is the freedom of a real education at USTC, of learning how to be well-adjusted. You get to consciously decide what has meaning and what doesn't. You get to decide what to worship.

——Rayyan Mohammed Abdelrazig Saidahmed

USTC International College

I was a child who dreamed of studying abroad since I was a little girl, dreaming of flying to the beautiful lands out there. My dream would not have come true without USTC. Although I was unable to travel to China due to the pandemic, USTC opened up a new horizon for me. Not only have I learned useful professional knowledge, I have also been able to exchange in Europe, travel and meet people from all over the world.

Time flies so fast. 2 years have passed, the young girl who was still bewildered and nervous when she received the admission letter that day has now graduated. End of 2 years masters journey at USTC but I know another journey is opening. Thank you ISO and teachers for being always by my side and growing up with me. You're always here, in my heart. ——Van Anh Le

I would struggle, I would flounder, and I would fail. I would rise from the ashes, I would thrive, and I would succeed. As I approach my graduation, I look back on everything that happened. My personal journey to graduation has been long and tough, but I don't regret a thing. My take-home message is to embrace the PhD experience. It definitely won't always be smooth-sailing, it's going to be tough. But challenges make overcoming them that much sweeter. View your studies as a training program; you're learning to master your trade. You will get there but you need to be your biggest supporter. Lastly, congratulations to all my fellow graduates; I wish you all well as you enter this next stage of your lives. ——Haji Suleman Ali

Though we are graduating at a tough time, I believe in my heart that better days are coming as said by C.S. Lewis
"There are far, far better things ahead than any we leave behind."
Graduation isn't the end of a tough journey. It is the beginning of a beautiful one and there's no limit to what we can do if we keep believing in ourselves. I believe, graduation is like a bridge to the next part of our life, and everything that got us here — hard work, drive, and confidence — is going to carry us across to the bright future. The academic approach, I want to share is "Before you act, listen. Before you react, think. Before you criticize, wait. And, before you quit, try." A genius Leonardo da Vinci says: " Learning is the only thing the mind never exhausts, never fears, and never regrets."

—— Muhammad Masoom Shafique

Whatever you choose to do in life, do it with determination and patience, because success is at the end of the effort and when you believe in it, you always succeed. Believing in yourself and your abilities is a solid foundation for success in life. Whatever you encounter, the most important thing is not to give up but rather to face every challenge, because that is what will make you a super hero in the future.

I am Amar Al-Ansi from Yemen, graduating from the department of Physics. I am grateful to my family for their support all the time. I want to express my gratitude to Chinese government, the Office of International Students for giving me a great opportunity to study at USTC, as well as for taking care of us during COVID-19. I am in debt to my supervisor Prof. Zijing Lin and Prof. Cheng LiRong. I am also grateful to my friends and colleagues.

—— Amar Yahya Yahya Al-Ansi

A four-year journey, what a long journey after hard work, and challenges, I reached success by obtaining a master's degree. I am very proud of myself and very happy to have reached the end of this journey. Today I am celebrating my graduation and this wonderful achievement and I deserve it.
Thank you to my family, my teachers, and my friends. Thanks, USTC.

I trust that if dreams are pursued with hard effort, patience, and tenacity, they will always lead to the desired outcome. Graduation was a significant milestone for me since it offered me a sense of success in achieving my goal. I was able to learn, explore, meet new friends, and discover about myself as a unique individual.

I would like to thank the CSC Fellowship for financing my Ph.D. study. I would like to express my gratitude to all my teachers, family members, all the employees of the USTC's International students Office, and the School of Information Science and Technology office in USTC.

Finally, I am grateful to Almighty Allah for providing me with the knowledge, fitness, and courage to pursue this goal of study and for guiding me through all of the challenges.
I love USTC, I love Hefei. I love you China.

It was the best of time, it was the worst of time.

During the past three years, the world was badly affected by the coronavirus. The pandemic was like an unexpected hit in our heads that has caused huge impacts on us, especially on the International Community of USTC. But the best thing ever happened to us is that this year, 54 international students managed to graduate from USTC, and 12 of you graduated successfully from Online University. You did the best in the toughest and worst time.
